ADMISSION.

Every applicant for matriculation must furnish satisfactory evidence of good moral character; and, if coming from another college, must present a certificate of honorable dismission.

In all cases the candidate is required to report to the President within twenty-four hours after his arrival, from whom all necessary information will be obtained as to settlement of expenses and examination for admission into classes.

It is very desirable that students enter at the opening of a term; and, if possible, at the beginning of the scholastic year. But they may be admitted at any time during the year, to any class for which they are prepared.

A sufficient number of new and excellent instruments is supplied.

CALISTHENICS.

Special attention is given to this department with particular reference to the health of the pupil.

This department is in charge of an experienced and thoroughly competent teacher. The classes are drilled daily, free of charge, in all the various movements, and in the use of Dumb-Bells, Wands and Rings.

All the girls are required to drill, unless excused for cause.

ELOCUTION.

Thorough instruction is given in this branch, with special reference to the development of a Natural Style of Reading and Speaking. This study is not optional with the students.

EXAMINATIONS.

In addition to the daily recitations, students must pass quarterly written examinations before they will be allowed to advance to a higher grade.

REPORTS.

At the end of each quarter reports are sent to parents or guardians, showing grade and deportment.

RELIGIOUS EXERCISES.

The exercises of each day open with religious service and roll-call, at which every student is required to be present. All the students in college are required to attend divine service at some one of the regular places of worship at least once every Sabbath.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

The young men have two Literary Societies—the Ionian and Philolathian. They meet once a week—Friday night—for exercise in debate, composition and declamation.

BOARDING DEPARTMENT.

1. Females—The boarding department for young ladies is under the immediate supervision of the President and his wife, aided by competent assistants.

Girls from a distance must board in the College, except in cases where they have immediate connections who will hold themselves responsible for their safe conduct. Under no other arrangement can there be judicious watch-care. Parents cannot overestimate the importance of this regulation. The female teachers all board in the College, and their influence and example will be constantly exerted over the young ladies.

2. Males—There is no provision made in the College for board and rooms for young men. They are allowed to select their own boarding houses, approved by the Faculty.

Whenever a change in the place of boarding is made, the student must report the same to the Secretary of the Faculty.

Good board can be obtained in private boarding houses and at convenient distances from the College, at from $8 to $10 per month.

For the benefit of those who are under the necessity of availing themselves of cheaper board, a Mess Hall will be provided by the beginning of next session, which will be under the supervision and control of the Faculty.

LOCATION.

Judson College is located in Hendersonville, and can be reached from midland and eastern North Carolina and from the south by railroad via Spartanburg, S. C. Those coming over the Western North Carolina Railroad, either from the east or west, leave the railroad at the Swannanoa depot, near Asheville, and are conveyed across the country, a distance of eighteen miles, to the College by a regular line of hacks.

Of Hendersonville a fascinating writer has said :

“From the valley of the upper French Broad, a plateau rises, by gentle gradations, to where the Blue Ridge, abruptly swerving from its south-westerly course, shoots far away to the westward. The higher peaks suddenly disappear, and for a space of several miles, the traveler only knows that he has passed the Ridge by finding the streamlets flowing in the opposite direction. On either hand, giant mountain buttresses guard this lovely table-land. It is diversified by here and there a wandering ridge or isolated park, off-shoots of the surrounding mountains, while far to the westward the mighty Balsam and the conical peak of Pisgah, melting in ever-varying hues against the evening sky, teem with a wealth of such glorious sunset effects as few landscapes on earth can afford.

“In the midst of this magnificent panorama, like a topaz in emerald setting, lies Hendersonville. It is the pearl of mountain towns. Its deep foundations are not laid in fathomless red-clay mud ; its soil is a natural filter of gravel and micaceous sand, and in an hour or two after a shower, slippered ladies walk its broad, aspen-shaded streets in comfort. And in the bosom of that granitic soil, what wells of limpid coolness ! If water can be purer than this, it is certainly the less delicious for its purity. Ice can be had, but after a glass of ice-water, you go to the well for a drink.

“And what breezes here do blow! Not a particle of miasma, but heaven's own elixir of life, up here 2,252 feet above the sea.

“And what nights for sleep! You always need a blanket or two in mid-summer.”
